Grand Jury Indicts Four Steel Firms In Price Fix

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's two largest steel producers, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, were indicted Thursday by two smaller firms on federal charges of rigging bids and fixing prices on forgings. Sales involved were estimated at $100 million a year.

The grand jury complaint had no connection with the $6-a-ton increase in steel prices earlier this month, which was spearheaded by U.S. Steel. The increase later was withdrawn under pressure from President Kennedy.

Flemming Says His Memory Was Faulty In Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur S. Flemming protested Thursday he has been put in a position of seeming to withhold information from a Senate investigation of government stockpile contracts. Actually, he said, he is the victim of a faulty memory.

Flemming, a former director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, was questioned for the second day about orders he issued in 1955 which permitted copper producers to reap handsome profits which he himself had described as a "possible windfall."

Insisting he could not recall details of discussions which led up to his copper directives, Flemming offered to take a leave of absence as president of the University of Oregon and try to reconstruct from government files the whole background story.

No Decision

The special Senate Armed Services subcommittee excused Flemming from further testimony until sometime in June without making any final decision about his offer.

Subcommittee counsel R. C. Cochrane announced hearings scheduled for Friday are being postponed indefinitely because of Senate debate on a voter literacy test bill.

After serving as ODM director, Flemming was secretary of welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

Flemming acknowledged he had expected, as Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., phrased it, that "somebody would raise hell" about the directives which let a number of producers defer delivery of copper to the government and sell it at a higher price to industry.

Other Position

Chairman Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and some of his Democratic colleagues contended Flemming should have required the producers to deliver the copper at the contract price, and that the government then should have resold it at a profit for the taxpayers' benefit.

Flemming insisted this would have been unlawful and improper. He said the government should not "get into the market solely for the purpose of making a profit."

"A principle was at stake," Flemming said.

Court Decides DuPont Must Liquidate Its GM Holdings

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 13-year legal battle ended Thursday when the government accepted the formula laid down by U.S. Dist. Judge Walter J. LaBuy for DuPont to liquidate its General Motors stock.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the government would not appeal although LaBuy did not accept all the government's terms. Kennedy said the settlement achieves the basic ends of the important litigation and is a landmark in antitrust enforcement.

Crawford H. Greenwalt, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., joined Kennedy in expressing gratification that the long litigation has at last ended.

LaBuy's judgment in Chicago March 1 directed that DuPont and its family holding company, Christiana Securities Corp., divest itself of 63 million shares of GM stock, worth nearly $3.5 billion, over the next three years.

It provided also that a number of DuPont family members must sell 8.5 million shares of GM stock they receive in such divestitures.

A factor in the government's decision seemed to be an additional concession DuPont made. It agreed that other stockholders closely affiliated with the DuPont management would sell an additional three million shares of GM stock which they now hold or will receive in divestitures.

LaBuy's decision was a victory for the government but since the settlement was along lines proposed by DuPont attorneys there had been some indication the government would appeal.

But Kennedy said the terms now reached seem clearly adequate to prevent DuPont influence in the management of General Motors.

The effective date of LaBuy's order is May 1. He said that DuPont and Christiana must begin divestiture within 90 days of that time. DuPont's distribution of GM holdings must be completed within 34 months and that of Christiana within 36 months of the effective date.

The order banned for 10 years any interlocking directorships or officers among General Motors and DuPont or Christiana.

The government brought the suit in 1949 on grounds that DuPont and the family through Christiana exerted substantial influence upon General Motors policies through ownership of 23 per cent of GM stock.

Greenwalt's statement said: "Now that remedial tax legislation has been enacted by the Congress and signed into law by the President, it is our intention to dispose of all or substantially all of our stock by distribution to DuPont stockholders. I expect that we will be able to announce further details of our plans for divestiture shortly after the next meeting of the board of directors on May 21."

Rusk Differs With Andrei On Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk differed Thursday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko about the extent of progress toward a Berlin settlement. Rusk said that there is no agreement yet on any particular point at issue in the current U.S.-Soviet talks.

He added, however, that a number of problems could be speedily resolved if the central points in dispute could be settled. Rusk emphasized that this would require Soviet acceptance of the continued presence of Western forces in West Berlin and guarantees of access to Berlin.

Going To Stay

"The facts are," Rusk said emphatically, "that we are in West Berlin and we are going to stay there."

Rusk discussed the Berlin situation at a news conference two days after Gromyko spoke about it in Moscow at a meeting of the Supreme Soviet, the U.S.S.R.'s parliament.

Gromyko said there are hopes for Soviet-American agreement on three issues involved in the U.S.-Soviet exchanges. He said the United States understands the importance of denying nuclear weapons to Germany. He reported Soviet-American "understanding in principle" on a nonaggression treaty between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact countries. And he declared the United States does not object to tying free access to Berlin to respect for the sovereignty of Communist East Germany.

No Agreement

In response to a question about the Gromyko statement, Rusk asserted, "There has been no agreement formulated on any particular point." He then went on to say that the matters mentioned by Gromyko could be readily resolved if the troop issue and access problem were settled.

"It is a matter that has been well-known for many years," he said, "that NATO does not intend to commit aggression on anybody. It has also been known since 1945 that the United States does not favor, for example, the diffusion of nuclear weapons in the hands of governments who do not have them."

"These are matters which are stated policies. They have been discussed, but there has been no agreement formulated on them."

Satellites Galore Sent Aloft In Spacedom's Busiest Day

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States and Great Britain teamed together Thursday and launched a scientific satellite.

This feat, coupled with a joint U.S.-Japanese rocket launching at Wallops Island, Va., signaled a new era in international space cooperation.

The two firings came amid these other developments:

1. America's spacecraft Ranger 4 crash-landed on the far side of the moon after a 64-hour, 231,486-mile journey through space.
2. The Soviet Union announced the launching of their fourth Sputnik in six weeks. The new earth satellite, Cosmos 4, was described by the Russians as packed with instruments to measure radiation and other space-probing gear.
3. The U.S. Air Force fired two mystery satellites a few hours apart from Point Arguello, Calif. The first employed a Blue Scout booster combination. These have been used for high-altitude research. The second had an Atlas-Agena B booster, such as have been used for the Samos military reconnaissance satellite series and for the Midas missile alarm satellite series. Other details were kept secret.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, visiting in the United States, is expected to announce a name for the British-U.S. satellite launched from Cape Canaveral.

Meanwhile, it was known by its program number, SS1. British newsmen dubbed it UK1, for United Kingdom.

Launched By U.S.

The gold-plated satellite was boosted into orbit by a Thor-Delta rocket—the most reliable U.S. booster—which scored its eighth satellite-launching success in a row.

Jubilant officials of both countries announced the 132-pound payload was in orbit when a tracking team at Cape Canaveral picked up signals from it after it completed one two-hour whirl around the world.

The 23-inch cylinder, bristling with solar cell panels, experiment booms and antenna, was sent aloft to explore the ionosphere and cosmic radiation.

The Anglo-American effort may speed the time when the two great rocket powers—the United States and the Soviet Union—combine their talents for manned and unmanned exploration of the universe.

President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev have exchanged messages on the subject since the successful orbital flight of American astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. in February. Last week, two meteorologists—one Russian, one American—announced preliminary work had been completed on a broad plan for a worldwide weather watch network using satellites and other means.

At Wallops Island, the United States and Japan joined in another cooperative space venture when an American Nike-Cajun sounding rocket shot a parcel of Japanese instruments 75 miles high in another ionosphere-probing experiment.

Reds Denounce New Tests; Renege On Walkout Threat

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union reiterated Thursday it will have to conduct nuclear weapons tests of its own since the United States has resumed testing.

The two chief Soviet negotiators here, Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin and Semyon K. Tsarapkin, vehemently denounced resumption of American atmospheric nuclear tests. But they failed to make good their threat to walk out of the disarmament conferences as soon as the test series began.

Tsarapkin, speaking to the British, Soviet, U.S. subcommittee where the three powers are conducting snarled negotiations for a test ban treaty, charged the United States deliberately started the Pacific explosions in order to speed up the arms race.

Provocative Act

He termed resumption of Western testing a provocative act which cannot be justified by security considerations.

"The Soviet Union will test new weapons in order to insure its own security in every environment," he said.

In a hectic plenary session of the 17-nation disarmament conference earlier, Zorin led a bitter Communist campaign against the two Western powers but failed to draw the eight middle-road delegations into the dispute.

His face flushed with excitement and shouting, he accused the United States and Britain—"its accomplice"—of hypocrisy and said the new tests have brought the world "closer to the abyss of inevitable war."

Never So Excited

Western officials said they had never seen the Soviet diplomat as excited as he was Thursday.

Poland's Marian Naszkowski, Czechoslovakia's Jiri Hajek, Bulgaria's Mildo Tarabanov and Romania's Gheorghe Macovescu followed Zorin's example.

The eight nonaligned delegations did not join the Communist denunciations.

Led by India's Arthur Lall—who appealed to the Western powers to halt the tests while the negotiations in Geneva continue—they expressed consternation and deep regret at the new tests. But they carefully refrained from direct recrimination against the two Western powers.

U. S. Position

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean emphasized that the new test series was made necessary by the Soviet Union's violation of the three-year-old test moratorium last September and its refusal to negotiate a controlled test ban agreement.

He assured the conference a permanent ban on nuclear weapons tests remains a primary object of U.S. policy. British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber gave his government's backing to this assurance. He said Britain fully endorsed the American position.

World Reaction Is Mixed On U. S. Resumption Of N-Tests

Cautious hope that a runaway nuclear arms race may still be avoided was expressed in some foreign capitals Thursday as world statesmen reacted to U.S. resumption of tests in the atmosphere.

Leaders of nations with close ties to the United States said it could take no other course in view of the Soviet Union's breaking of the voluntary moratorium last October, and its refusal to accept on-site inspection in a test ban treaty.

Neutral Nations

Neutral nations deplored the resumption of tests but many acknowledged the Soviet action in breaking the moratorium had made the U.S. decision inevitable.

This was in sharp contrast to Communist castigation that failed even to refer to the gigantic Soviet tests last fall.

Small demonstrations continued but without much real mass support. In Glasgow about 20 young men and women charged into the U.S. consulate, staged a sitdown, and were dragged out by police.

Diplomats turned their attention to Geneva, where the Soviet Union's Semyon K. Tsarapkin denounced the U.S. tests but failed to walk out of the test ban talks with the United States and Britain.

Dutch Position

Dutch Foreign Minister J. M. H. A. Luns declared his government agrees with President Kennedy's decision to resume tests. He told Parliament during a foreign policy debate Kennedy had to do to safeguard the safety of the West. Luns said his country hoped agreement could be reached on prevention of tests everywhere.

Havard Lange, foreign minister of Norway, said word that the United States is testing would be received with regret in wide circles of his country.

Privately, Turkish officials expressed regret but placed the blame on the Russians.

"The Russian explosions of last fall made it necessary for America to continue its own testing," one official said.

See Major Gain In Test Of Accuracy

GOLDSTONE, Calif. (AP) — Ranger 4, a fantastically complex spacecraft turned into a hurtling hulk by brain failure, crashed Thursday as expected on the mysterious back side of the moon.

Scientists, disappointed at its inability to conduct sophisticated experiments to measure the moon, nonetheless hailed it as a major step in space research. The fact that it hit its target without guidance along the way, they said, indicates future spacecraft can be shot moonward with accuracy.

The instrument-jammed 730-pound vehicle may well have landed less than 1,000 miles from the 860-pound Lunik II, the Soviet craft which is the only other man-made object to make a lunar voyage. It hit Sept. 14, 1959.

U. S. Readies Second Test In Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is ready to make every possible effort for an East-West test ban agreement even though this nation must go ahead with its current series of nuclear explosions.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk set forth this pledge Thursday in a special statement the morning after the United States finally resumed atomic blasts in the atmosphere, following a 3½-year lapse.

NASA Statement

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, who came to this desert tracking center for the historic impact, called it: "an outstanding American achievement—much more complex than anything the Russians have attempted."

Lunik II, he said, was little more than a projectile.

Ranger 4 hooked around the moon's leading edge and smashed at nearly 6,000 m.p.h. into the bleak lunar landscape at 7:47 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, 64 hours and 231,486 miles after it blasted off from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

For scientists, it was heart-warming that after six failures the United States had finally scored a bullseye.

Second Shot Due

Informed sources said the second shot in the U.S. series probably will not be triggered before Friday for various operational reasons, including a desire to avoid shooting two doses of radioactivity into the same air mass.

U.S. scientists were busily checking preliminary data from Wednesday's initial explosion over Christmas Island in the Pacific.

Had Hoped For More

It made up in part for their heartbreak some two hours after the launch when they learned that the failure of a timer had crippled the spacecraft's electronic brain. This ruled out any possibility of the fancy experiments planned. These included taking television pictures of the moon's surface, landing instruments to measure temperatures and moonquakes, and a variety of lesser studies.

The Russians, in October 1959 with Lunik III, obtained the first television pictures of the moon, including a good look at its hidden far side. Ranger 4, it had been hoped, would do even better.

For most of its flight Ranger 4's only voice was a faint radio beacon in its nose—faint but still strong enough to be tracked. When the voice was still as the craft passed the moon's edge Thursday morning, scientists from the Jet Propulsion Laboratory knew it had hit the moon almost exactly as they had forecast.

OAS Attacks Stronghold In Algeria

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — European Secret Army men attacked a French stronghold in the heart of Oran Thursday night and held it under fire for an hour.

The action came after a wave of terrorist attacks in Oran and Algiers that killed at least 21 Moslems by sundown.

French troops barricaded in a dozen points throughout Oran immediately opened fire on the Secret Army attack with heavy and light machine guns.

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The Secret Army men—in civilian clothes but heavily armed with submachine guns, ammunition belts and grenades—withdraw through the streets after an hour of firing. They were cheered from the windows by other settlers.

According to unofficial reports, about two score terrorists took part in an attack against the fortified French positions on the roof of the 15-story Lescure building that dominates the center of Oran.

ESSC Club Goes 'French' In Jersey

THE FRENCH CLUB'S end-of-the-year outing this year was tre's different, according to Dr. Ruth B. Kistler, the ESSC club sponsor and chairman of the East Stroudsburg State College's foreign language department.

"Twenty-five of us drove down to a bit of France, in New Jersey, no less! where we had an authentic French dinner in a little inn operated by a Frenchwoman and her son, from Nice France."

Dinner was followed by an hour's conversation and quiz, in French, delivered by Madame Bellanger, the proprietress.

Each time a student gave a correct answer, Mme. Bellanger gave her or him a little French flag. At the end of the evening Nancy Hanisko, from Flourtown, and Sandra Wakefield from East Stroudsburg RD 3, were covered with flags. So, they were awarded gifts. Nancy chose a French doll and Sandra, an apron, both made by their hostess.

"It not only was enjoyable," Dr. Kistler points out, "But it was good psychologically for our students to know they can chat with, and hold their own with, a native French person."

The club went in a bus provided by Ernest H. Wyckoff.

Area Women Head Dems Delegation

MRS. BESSIE Altman, Saylorsburg, and Mrs. Van D. Yetter Jr., East Stroudsburg RD 2, have been appointed Arrangements Chairmen to head the Monroe County delegation of Democratic women to the 1962 Campaign Conference May 20, 21 and 22 in Washington, D. C.

Pennsylvania's Democratic National Committee woman Emma Guffey Miller, who announced Mrs. Altman and Mrs. Van D. Yetter Jr.'s appointments, said the 1962 Conference will be the first nationwide Democratic women's conference to be held during the Administration of President John F. Kennedy.

The Conference is open to all Democratic women in Monroe County.

Highlights of the three-day conference, whose workshop sessions will concentrate on campaign issues and techniques, will include a reception on the South Lawn of the White House on May 22 for all the women who register for the complete, three-day conference. President Kennedy will greet these delegates at a reception. Following this reception, a tour of the White House is scheduled for these women delegates.

Mrs. Altman, vice chairman of Monroe's Democratic party, said the last day to make reservations is Tuesday, May 15. Reservations and other details of the Conference may be arranged by calling Mrs. Yetter Jr. at HA 1-2831 or by writing to her at East Stroudsburg, Pa. RD 2.

Fraternity To Wash Cars For 'Brothers'

THE second social fraternity—Phi Sigma Kappa—to appear on the campus of the East Stroudsburg State College will have its members in khaki and sneakers Saturday, washing cars at Serf's Service Station, Washington and Courtland Streets, East Stroudsburg.

Purpose—to raise money for the brothers. "After we get started, obtain our official, national charter next fall," states club president Frank Puccio, "We'll work for charity. But now WE need it!"

The young men will work in shifts, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. giving the best car wash in town. "Nothing will be too dirty for us!" is the day's motto.

Phi Sigma Kappa is backed by several Stroudsburg area business men, members of Phi Sigma Kappa National.

Last fall Sigma Pi was established officially on the local campus; it was the first national social fraternity requested by ESSC men. According to Tony Messenlehner, Sigma Pi president on College Hill, "competition is healthy for the best working of a fraternity system. We welcome legitimate, national fraternities."

The members of the new fraternity have elected these men officers: Frank Puccio from Philadelphia, president; John Wellington, Stroudsburg, vice president; John Sark, Palmerton, treasurer; Bob Seeling, Philadelphia, recording secretary; Steve Rothke, Budd Lake, N.J., and Salvatore Pappalardo, East Stroudsburg, historian.

Commercial Establishments Reminded To Submit Plans

THE Division of Sanitation of the Pennsylvania Department of Health requires operators of Monroe County commercial establishments or buildings which are public, semi-public, or commercial in nature, and where the public receives a service which has a public health significance.

This was announced yesterday by the department's regional office at Wilkes-Barre.

Examples of such places would be restaurants, taverns, schools, motels, mobilehome parks, camps or institutions, and also any business place where sewage systems are to be of the septic tank-subsurface disposal type and also those places which are going to use other than public water supplies.

The plans to be submitted for approval would include all food service facilities and should show anticipated design and construction or changes in kitchen, dish-washing areas, storage area, toilet facilities, dining hall, or any phase of the food service facility.

Plans are reviewed by a staff and are approved when all requirements are met. The plan review program involves only those areas of this region where a direct service is being rendered by the sanitarians employed by the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Any additional information on the services of the sanitation staff in the eight-county area of Region 1 which comprises Columbia, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Monroe, Pike, Susquehanna, Wayne, and Wyoming counties can be secured by contacting George M. Livingstone, Regional Sanitarian, Pennsylvania Department of Health, 71 North Franklin St., Wilkes-Barre.

In order to facilitate the submission of plans, the Division of Sanitation has available a guide for architects and engineers.

Monroe Boroughs Noted Greater Revenues In 1960

MONROE County boroughs reported greater revenues in 1960 than in 1959, but townships reported lesser revenues. Borough revenues increased $94,978 or 17.2% to a total of $647,357, but township revenues decreased $5,403 or 1.1% to a total of $508,904.

These statistics were announced yesterday by Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of Internal Affairs, in a publication titled "Monroe County Local Government Financial Statistics — 1960." This is the forty-eighth 1960 publication in a continuing series designed to present information concerning the finances of all municipalities of the Commonwealth.

A separate publication is being issued for each county.

Both boroughs and townships received approximately two-fifths of their revenues from taxes collected. State highway aid contributed an additional one-third of township revenues. Borough expenditures were $652,411 — an increase of 9.5% over 1959, and township expenditures were $546,257 — an increase of 11.1%. Expenditures exceeded revenues in both boroughs and townships.

Municipal bonded debt of boroughs increased from $428,500 at the end of 1959 to $395,000 at the end of 1960, and township bonded debt increased during the year from $4,000 to $113,000.

Total assessed valuations decreased slightly during the year, and as a result of the increased bonded debt the remaining borrowing capacity of the county's municipalities decreased to a total of $4,329,864 at the end of 1960.

LCB Accepts 'Compromise' $200 Offer

HARRISBURG — The State Liquor Control Board said yesterday it has accepted a $200 "compromise" offer in lieu of license suspension of Pocono Chateau, Inc., Route 402, Mink Hills.

The license suspension originally was to have become effective as of yesterday for a period of 20 days on charges of permitting minors to frequent and sales to minors.

Under the compromise plan in use by the board, a licensee may petition the board for payment of a $10 fee for each day of ordered suspension in lieu of actual suspension.

When the petition is filed it is approved or disapproved by the board after consideration of such factors as previous citations and the number and degree of seriousness of the offenses.

Public Urged To Await Wet Spell To Burn Trash

WEARY volunteer firemen last night pleaded with the public not to burn rubbish or anything else until the present dry, windy weather ends. Three more brush or grass fires were reported during the day, two of them blamed on careless burning of rubbish. Marshalls Creek Fire Co. was called to the burning of Moses L. Silverwater, Minnick Hills, at 2:30 p.m., where burning rubbish ignited a large field and scorched three cottages in the vicinity.

Firemen managed to save the cottages and returned to the fire house about 4 p.m.

Stroud Township firemen answered an alarm at the Jell-muth Gruff home, 952 Drake Lane, at 3:40 p.m. Burning rubbish ignited the grass and the fire spread to the adjacent Harrison Taylor property.

Firemen said about half an acre was burned, including some young pine trees on the Taylor property. The fire was extinguished in about 15 minutes.

Marshalls Creek was called again at 7:20 p.m. to stand by while Shawnee-on-Delaware firemen fought a brush blaze in the Mosier's Knob area off Shawnee drive. The blaze burned two to three acres, firemen said.

Meanwhile, the State Dept. of Forests and Waters reported that a blaze which broke out Wednesday afternoon and burned 300 to 400 acres in the area to the east of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad north of Henryville was extinguished yesterday afternoon.

State Constitution Faults Outlined To Women Voters

WILLIAM Johnson, of Stroudsburg, president of Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. William Pothoff, League of Women's Voters, state chairman for constitutional change, were the guest speakers at the dinner meeting of the local league at Heddy's Hawaiian Room last night.

Johnson spoke of the many avenues of need for a redrafting or creating a new constitution for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He pointed out several laws in the constitution that are no longer needed.

Johnson said, "There is a law standing that forbids the railroads to issue passes." He added, "Being a businessman I realize that it would be foolish to issue passes, certificates or the like that would cost me money."

Another law he pointed out was the law prohibiting duels to be fought in Pennsylvania. He looked around the audience and asked, "When was the last duel fought that you remember?"

He also pointed out that under the present constitution the debt ceiling in the state is $1,000,000. "The state lawmakers have gotten around this by creating 'authorities' to handle many things it cannot," he added.

At another point in his talk he said, "It is up to us the voters, the residents, the taxpayers of this state to create a demand in the Commonwealth that will force a change in the constitution."

American Students Refresh Lectures Of Irish Poet

"I LIKE to have a sprinkling of American students in a class, say in Dublin or in England when I'm lecturing," states Padriac Colum. "Why? Because they ask questions. They are stimulating. They don't sit taking notes, in a negative sort of way."

Padriac Colum, Irish poet, critic, and founder of Dublin's famed Abbey Theatre, spoke to an audience of students and area residents last night in the auditorium of the East Stroudsburg State College.

In a pre-lecture interview, the 81-year-old poet went on to describe modern youth as being . . . not so different from other generations. I think too much harsh emphasis is being put on their desire for security, for well-paying positions at any cost. Truly, the majority of youth has felt that way always. Today there is a no greater number. Think of the space ships . . . of the astronaut . . .

4 Charged In Eastburg False Alarm

TWO brothers and two juveniles were arrested by East Stroudsburg police yesterday and charged with turning in a false fire alarm on the night of last Sept. 7.

Philip Russell Singer, 28, of 11 E. Kistler St., East Stroudsburg, and his brother, Richard Elwood Singer, 24, same address, pleaded guilty to the charge at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Chester R. Staples.

They were committed to Monroe County Jail in default of $500 bail each to await the next term of court.

The juveniles, 14 and 15 year old boys, will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Police said the quartet was responsible for a false alarm about 8 p.m. on Sept. 7, which was turned in from 213 Prospect St.

A police spokesman said the arrest of the four was the by-product of questioning of a group of boys who were interrogated earlier this week when they were spotted by police playing in an alley after dark.

of the young men and women who want to join the peace corps."

Answering a query, he remarked that he knew Samuel Beckett from Dublin days, when they both associated with James Joyce. Although, recently Beckett . . . "has seemed to turn away from Ireland. He wants to live in France. There is a bit of anger in him at Ireland."

"Good Thing To Do"

When told that the dramatics society at ESSC had performed Beckett's play, "Waiting For Godot" this spring, he nodded. "It was a good thing to do . . . to break through the conventional fare."

But, he added . . . "Personally, I think that Beckett's plays, and others of the type, lead nowhere. They have no development."

Colum has been notified that a play of his, "Thomas Massey," that hasn't been performed for thirty years, will be put on the Abbey Theatre in Dublin this summer.

"I'd like to see it, but in summer I'm usually up at your Cape Cod, writing. I go to Ireland in the winter . . . the worst time, of course."

Colum believes that the ideal theatre for "performing the finer sort of drama," should have no more than 600 seats. "Let the giants, seating thousands, have the big comedies, the thoughtful, small and intimate."

Next week he will be in Kansas City, lecturing at colleges there and in its environs. And—"Would to God the weather does not turn warmer!"

Council Of Churches Aide Protests Nuclear Tests

BUCK HILL FALLS — The testing of nuclear weapons without international consent or control must cease, Dr. O. Frederick Nolde, an associate general secretary of the World Council of Churches, said here yesterday.

Dr. Nolde, of New York and Philadelphia, director of the Council's Commission of the Churches on International Affairs, said it was ironic that the Soviet Union and the United States had resumed testing in the atmosphere despite the fact that people around the world want it stopped.

Even "within nuclear countries, vast majorities desperately desire an agreement with reasonable assurance that treaty commitments will be honored," he said.

He said churchmen must persistently ask "whether any nation is justified in deciding on its own responsibility to conduct such tests, when the people of other nations in all parts of the world who have not agreed may have to bear the consequences."

The church expert on international affairs has been in Geneva recently to represent Christian concern for disarmament to the negotiators there.

He reiterated a statement made by the World Council's Executive Committee last month in which it urged governments not to resume nuclear testing and to agree on a system of information and verification which would assure all parties that treaty agreements were being honored.

"We know how easy it is to speak words such as these but how difficult it is to put them in effect," he said. Speaking for himself and the chairman of the Commission of the Churches on International Affairs, Sir Kenneth Grubb of London, Dr. Nolde outlined a four-point program which he felt would help achieve world peace.

"Whereas we are normally cautious about advocating a summit meeting, we believe that in the present instance the stakes are so high that its possibilities should be explored," the statement said.

In the event that a summit meeting is convened it should not be in an atmosphere of desperation or finally but rather with a view to utilizing every opportunity available at the moment."

He said he felt these views were widely held by Christians and churches in the World Council of Churches.

Safe At Home

A special section in today's Daily Record brings to mind the thought of how fortunate we are in this area to have reputable and qualified members of the building trade. This section, provided by the Monroe County Masters Builders and Contractors Association, depicts a number of model homes that are open for inspection, as well as listing various services that are provided for those contemplating either new construction or remodeling.

The services offered by local contractors and suppliers have a definite advantage over those provided by distant firms or "fly-by-night" salesmen who sometimes invade an area and prey upon gullible residents.

Your local builders are residents of your own area, and they will be available long after any work that is done is completed and turned over to a homeowner. They are thoroughly experienced in local conditions, with the type of weather we have during winter and summer (an important construction factor), and they are familiar with local ordinances and the like. In short, they KNOW the area.

Often times, even recently, area residents have been fleeced by "wildcat" salesmen who sell them a deal on siding or home improvements, or what not. Only too late have some of these residents realized their mistake — but by that time the salesman in question may be selling fans to the Eskimos or insulation and siding in Timbucktoo. An appeal to a Better Business Bureau may solve the feelings of the victim — but the money is still gone from his pocket-book or bank account.

Area residents will be wise to have local builders and contractors do their work. They are known and their work is known. What's more, they will be here next week and next year in case any discrepancy should crop up.

Play it safe by having your work done at home!

Dangerous Crossing

Opinions Of Other Editors

Road To Fairer Representation

No valid basis can be found for opposing the idea of more equitable representation in the legislative branches of the state governments. Although the population of the nation has changed from two-thirds rural to two-thirds urban in the last half a century, many assemblies have not altered the distribution of their membership in all that time. As a consequence, the rural areas of the nation have been exerting a disproportionate influence on legislation at the expense of the cities.

Yet the supreme court's historic ruling opening to review by federal courts issues of apportionment carries implications that must, to say the least, be viewed with considerable uneasiness. It involves a further intrusion (as did the controversial school desegregation decision) into an area previously reserved to the states.

There is a further danger also. The new ruling, if applied extensively, could deliver to the cities not only a dominant voice in legislative matters but also dictatorial political power. For the party that dominated the cities might perpetuate itself in Washington indefinitely.

The right way to correct existing disproportion is for the people of the separate states to resist on proper action at the state level. This would remove the excuse for federal intervention and probably result in a form of reapportionment somewhat less disruptive politically than dictation by a federal court could be expected to produce.

How To Make Elections Honest

The President's Commission on Campaign Costs has issued an interesting but futile report on how to control campaign expenditures. The 1960 Campaign cost the Republican and Democratic Parties $19,900,000, which is far less than the fact because considerable amounts in any campaign are paid in cash and are not accounted for and cannot be proved.

The Commission proposes: "Where an individual or organization is subject to taxation, we recommend that the reasonable costs of these activities be declared a deductible expense for tax purposes."

That would be a sensible proposal if groups contributed only to absolutely defined campaign funds, which are a device to deceive. The Commission further proposes:

"We recommend that individuals and private organizations—including corporations, labor unions, farm organizations, civic societies, and other appropriate groups—be encouraged as a matter of good citizenship to take part in and to make expenditures for bipartisan political activities where more than the two major parties benefit from such expenditures."

This is nonsense. It is a re-nomination of partisanship. Our political system is based upon two parties. The Communists permit only one party to exist. Partisanship is wholesome and is the only protection that a free people have against tyranny. Recently, I tried to explain to some youngsters that the reason I voted for Richard Nixon in 1960 was that I was partisan. They did not seem to understand that at all.

The Commission also proposes a tax incentive for contributors on the ground that charitable, health, welfare, religious and educational groups are exempt. The argument is specious; however, I, like other taxpayers, am willing to take advantage of any kind of tax deduction at any time, but I do not want to contribute to the success of enemies or those who support ideas that I oppose.

The Commission wisely objects to the splintering of political organizations into many committees, which is a current device to raise money for campaigns. However, their recommendation that the benefits be limited to political parties whose candidates for President and Vice President appeared on the ballot in 10 states is a curb upon the freedom of conscience.

I have saved my conscience on some occasions by voting for Norman Thomas and I once voted for Roger Babson because both the Republican and Democratic candidates were repugnant to me. That may happen to me in the 1962 Election in New York State.

It seems to me that this Commission has dodged the central issue, which is that campaign expenses run too high; that the candidate who has the money to buy more television time, competing for slots with tooth-paste and deodorants, has a better opportunity than the man who has less money. It may be that the man with less money may be more suitable.

The Kennedy-Nixon Debates in the 1960 Campaign made sense in the 1960 Campaign made sense. Nixon was defeated because he was non-aggressive, defensive, unable, because of his office, to denounce or defend his President. Granted that Nixon was on a spot and that Kennedy belted him to the ropes; nevertheless, the voter had a chance to see both men in action.

Even this is not the cure. The British have it in their strict limitation of expenditures and if a nickel more is spent than the law permits, the election is null, and the candidate's manager is liable to punishment. This is a good law. They do not bother there about the contributors, who might slip a bull under the table. They go after the candidate and his manager who spends that extra money which he has a right to have but not to spend on the campaign.

This is an honest and direct method of keeping elections decent. The President's Commission on Campaign Costs wanders all over the Earth seeking impractical remedies. For instance, the report says:

"A general misconception appears to exist about the effect and intent of the provision (in the law limiting contributions). From our study of the section, its legislative history, and the applicable court decisions, it is clear to us that no distinction is intended between corporations and unions with respect to political contributions and expenditures."

There is more than one member of the Commission who must have had his tongue in his cheek when he saw that paragraph. What about educational funds?

The Pennsylvania Story

High-Priced 'Victories'

By Mason Denison
HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

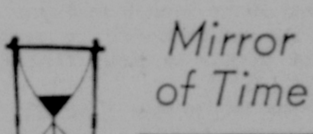

High Priced "Victories" — For loudly-touted "economically depressed" and "unemployment plagued" Pennsylvania these two Associated Press dispatches this week might well be of somewhat passing interest:

"WILKES-BARRE — About 250 employees of the Signmaster Brewing Co. struck Monday for a new contract. Officials hinted the walkout may force permanent closure of the 105-year-old brewery."

DOWNTOWN — Daring Paper Co. announced the permanent closing of its paper mill here. The mill has been struck 11 days in a seniority dispute."

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

For the month of April our nomination for the meanest thief goes to a couple of persons who shoplifted articles at Nealis' Antique Shop in Scotrun.

Now shoplifting is an everyday occurrence at business places. However, we thought individuals who ply in this "trade" followed the normal working day.

Such was not the case of the "lifters" who stole two valuable antiques and other odds and ends at Nealis on all days — Easter Sunday.

Maybe if you carry the philosophy of Ed Boushell, another antique dealer, you get some consolation out of such acts. "After-all," Ed said to Mrs. Nealis, "the deeds are on their consciences."

That's a comforting way of putting it. That's if you can afford to stand the losses.

Coffee shoppes are great places to sit down and hear not earth-shattering, but interesting talk over a steaming cup of Java. Here's a few quotes you are most likely to be surrounded with:

"If I could only get a baby-sitter."

"Really don't know whether I should buy a picture tube or a new television set."

"I thought shorts were not allowed on Main St."

"If I only could get a baby-sitter."

"What fools the Yankees were to get rid of Robin Roberts. Oh well, he'll collect his New York paycheck of $20,000 and pick up a $20,000 more when he signs with another club. That'll give him more than he got in his best years with the Phillies."

"If I only could get a baby-sitter."

"You can't beat false teeth. No aches, no pains."

"If I only could get a baby-sitter."

"I don't mind washing dishes. That is, if my hands could get soap and the soap they use today."

"Gee, they get new waitresses here every other day."

"If I only could get a baby-sitter."

(Editor's Note: None of the 21 customers in the eatery offered their services to the young lass as a baby-sitter. Nor did anyone offer the name of a prospective one.)

The Allen-Scott Report

State Dept. Favors Reduction In S. Korea

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—The State Department has jolted the Joint Chiefs of Staff by sending president Kennedy a policy review paper recommending that the U.S.-supported South Korean Army be reduced by one-third.

This amazing recommendation, which comes at a time when the North Korean Communists are renewing guerrilla warfare in South Korea, calls for cutting 200,000 from the most powerful anti-Communist forces in Asia. The 600,000-man South Korean Army, along with two U.S. Army divisions, is standing guard along the 150-mile demilitarized zone separating South from North Korea.

Prepared by Dr. Walt W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, the explosive policy paper proposes the reduction in force for widely different foreign policy and economic reasons, including:

A major U.S. peace overture to assure the Chinese Communists that we have no intention of permitting South Korea to use military force to unify Korea or upset the present military armistice;

To permit the shifting of $100 million in U.S. aid from military to economic projects in South Korea.

Already, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have launched a blistering counter-attack against the Rostow proposal.

In separate report to the President, these military advisers warn that such a sizable reduction in forces would completely upset their "forward" military strategy for the Far East.

They frankly charge that the Rostow plan is "an open invitation" to the Chinese Communists to reopen hostilities in South Korea since the proposed cut-back would greatly weaken this country's ability to fight a "limited war" in South Korea or any other area in the Far East.

"The threat to the Republic of Korea is the same today as it was when the military armistice was signed," states the JCS memorandum. "The pressure of subversion, and infiltration down both coasts of Korea and across the 150-mile demilitarized zone is even greater today than it has been in recent years. Communist guerrillas, supplied and directed from North Korea, are operating in South Korea. All present South Korean forces are needed to meet and contain this growing military threat."

The JCS also point out that the South Korean Army is now considered an integral part of U.S. strategic forces, and present U.S. policy is to increase these forces.

So far as can be determined, President Kennedy has not yet decided to adopt or reject the State Department proposal, nor has it been formally submitted to the National Security Council.

Reliable Ally—Admiral Harry S. Felt undertook a militant defense of President Ngo Dinh Diem when the U.S. commander of all military forces in the Pacific briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee on the growing guerrilla war in South Vietnam.

He also shed some new light on those recurring reports that Diem doesn't have the backing of his people.

Questioned about Diem's honesty by Representative Wayne Hays (D-Ohio), Admiral Felt replied:

"In my opinion, Diem is one of the most courageous and honest leaders in all Southeast Asia. Look at the things Diem has done. A million refugees came down from North Vietnam in 1954 when nobody believed South Vietnam would exist for another six months. Diem stepped in and saved his country. He has given the people a tremendous land reform program. He has increased the number of college students from 2,900 in 1956 to 11,500 in 1961. There isn't a more dedicated anti-Communist anywhere in the world."

"But what about those reports that the bulk of the people do not support Diem?" asked Representative Hays.

"I don't think you can say that the bulk of the people in any country out there support their leader," replied Felt. "They don't even know who he is. Their loyalties are to their own chieftain, to their own village province and chief. I think those reports are unfair. The people are for a free life; to work and to do as they wish as free men. Diem is for that. This is why we support Diem."

In discussing Laos, Admiral Felt told the Committee that he still thinks that country is the key to saving South Vietnam.

"Do you still believe that Laos is the key in saving South Vietnam from the Communists?" asked Representative Walter Judd (R-Minn.).

"Yes," replied Felt. "All I can say about that is that some decisions have to be made, and I can't make them."

Social Whirl—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, no less, enabled Mrs. Gwen Cadriz, irrepressible "society queen," to score a spectacular coup in the Capital's hectic lion-hunting scramble. The millionaire realtor's wife was able to snag the one-time British King and his American wife as guests at a dance through a wily stratagem. Getting wind that the Windsors were coming to Washington to visit British Ambassador and Lady Ormsby-Gore, Mrs. Cadriz gave a dinner for them. With this leverage, she then succeeded in expanding the dinner to include a dance for the Windsors. Ingenious and effective. "Wally" wore a gown of ice-blue satin with bugle beads of darker shade at the midriff, and jewelry consisting of a choker of very large pearls. Gwen was dressed in a watermelon pink gown with a long sheath skirt and matching bolero embroidered all over in green and crystal beads.

New Approach To Royalty Set For South Wayne Prom

NEWFOUNDLAND — A new approach to the selection of royalty has been approved for the 1962 May Day Prom at Southern Wayne Joint School.

In former years, the May Queen and King have been chosen by popular vote of the student body from seventh through twelfth grade several weeks in advance of the May Day festivities. The king and queen then presided over the fete, together with their court of princes and princesses.

This year, a ballot will be taken on May 4, and the results will be kept secret until 8:30 p.m., when the crowning will take place. Officiating will be the 1961 May King, Donald Simon, and the Queen, Shirley Strada.

The theme for the prom will be "Tropicana," and tables will be decorated with miniature palm trees and sea shells. Brightly-colored Hawaiian leis will be presented to guests at the door, and palm trees will decorate the stage and floor of the auditorium. Luau refreshments will be served, and dancing will be to the music of Rudi and Her Four Rhythms, including Terrence Bartholomew, a member of the SWJS faculty who has toured with the U. S. Army Band for six years prior to his coming to Newfoundland.

Entertainment will include the traditional maypole dance performed by underclassmen. Diana Colan and Cindy Haldaman will delight the audience with a genuine Hawaiian hula, which the two little girls have learned from Elizabeth "Happy" Dugan, a member of the senior class.

Tickets for the prom may be purchased from any member of the Senior Tri-Hi-Y, which is sponsoring the May Day festivities.

The House Of The Week

Large Kitchen Makes This Ranch Livable

By Jules Loh

HOW many times have you said this yourself: "I don't know why we even have a living room, everybody always winds up in the kitchen."

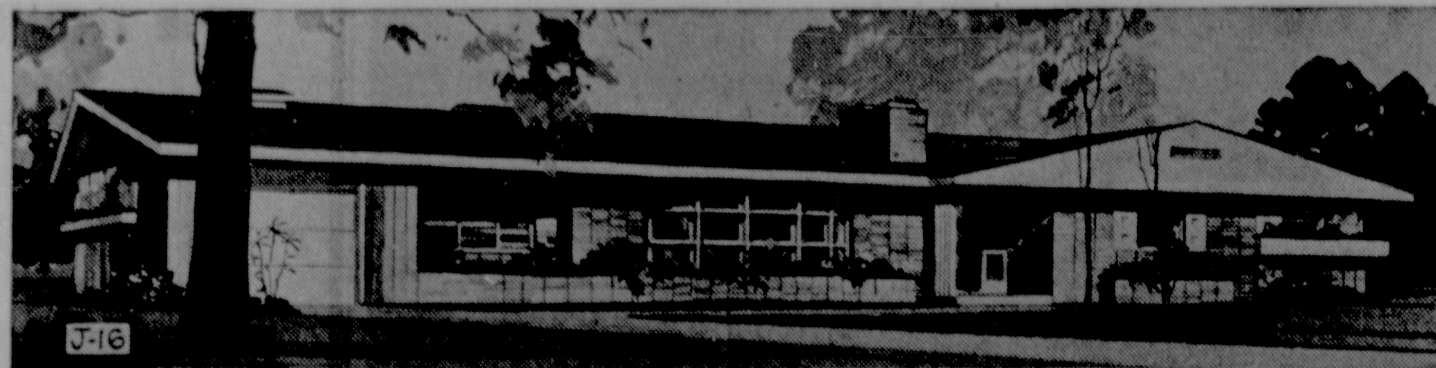

It seems to be a universal trait of Americans. Whether at a party, or a get-together with the neighbors, or just in the course of every day, there always seems to be a congregation in the kitchen.

The only trouble is, most kitchens nowadays can't handle the crowd. Somewhere during the past generation of home building — probably as a result of the heading rush for "efficiency" — the American kitchen shrank.

Architect Rudolph A. Matern set out to restore it to its right place of prominence in this up to date one-level home. It is design J-16 in the House of the Week series.

The kitchen in this house contains 216 square feet — as large as many living rooms. With all its size, however, its U-shaped work area will save the housewife multitudes of steps. There is plenty of counter space, and an abundance of cabinets — nearly 33 linear feet of them.

Another striking feature of this house is the outdoor living room

DECEPTIVE LENGTH — An outdoor living room between the garage and main house and partially covered by the roof adds length to this fresh looking which connects the garage and the main house and is partially covered by the roof. From the front it looks like part of the main house, and adds length to the exterior view. From the inside, too, this 170-square-foot outdoor area serves to enlarge the living room both visually and physically. The server bar should not be overlooked as an aid to out-door dining and entertaining.

All the bedrooms are of good size, with more than enough closet space — if that's possible. There are six closets in the master bedroom, three in the second bedroom and two in the third. Note how the bank of closets serves as a sound buffer between bedrooms two and three.

Additional Details

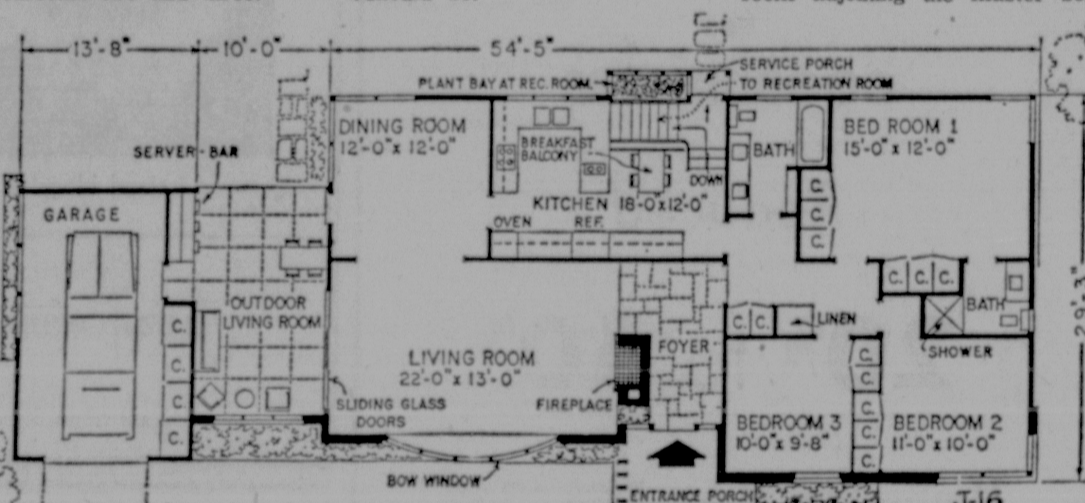

Rarely do you think of the basement steps as something glamorous, but take a look at these. A glass planter bay extends from the ceiling to three steps below the floor level, creating a balcony effect for the kitchen breakfast area. The net result is that the kitchen becomes as attractive as it is functional, which is as it should be.

three-bedroom ranch. Another feature of the house is its well-designed, 216-square-foot kitchen. Total living area of the house is 1,478 square feet.

The planter bay also allows plenty of natural light on the stairway and into the kitchen, especially since it is side-by-side with the triple windows over the sink. The combination also makes for excellent supervision of the backyard.

One other feature of the kitchen deserves mention — the two-burner unit on the counter nearest the breakfast table. It lets you keep the coffee hot, or the soup, without getting up from the table.

The main bathroom of this home is situated ideally, convenient both to the bedroom wing and the kitchen. It has double lavatories plus a second vanity on the opposite wall. The bathroom adjoining the master bed-

Outdoor living room, linking main house with garage and partially covered by the roof, is another unusual feature. WE don't think our new build-it-yourself golf buggy will cause Detroit any great concern, but we know it will interest every golfer and anyone else who needs low cost transportation.

Powered by a 5 hp gas engine, equipped with wheels, axles and other parts easily salvaged from a power lawn mower, the buggy provides ideal transportation for the aged or handicapped, or for shopping center or in-plant transportation.

Since every step of assembly is outlined in easy to follow procedure, anyone who knows the difference between a hammer and a wrench can easily assemble the chassis, wheels, pulley and belt drive.

The pattern offered below not only illustrates each part and explains step-by-step, where and when each is assembled, but also provides full size templates for cutting the body from three-quarter inch plywood. Directions show how to install a self starter and road lights.

13-Million Old Thermostats Used

THE NERVE center of a good heating system, the thermostat on the wall, can cause inefficient operation and discomfort for the home's occupants if it is out of date.

According to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, approximately 13-million obsolete thermostats are in use in America today. Technical advances have made modern controls more sensitive and durable than any made several years ago.

Soft Water Brings Better Livability

ANYONE who watches television has seen numerous demonstrations of how this soap or that soap gets your body, clothes and dishes cleaner than product "X" can. But what if you try all these products and still have dingy-looking dishes and clothes and that not-quite-clean feeling after bathing?

The problem, more than likely, is hard water, and you are one of the great majority of people cursed, you feel, with this problem.

Ask any homemaker using soft water what the switch has meant in terms of less housework, cleaner dishes and clothes and tastier food and drinks. All it takes is a home water softener.

Three - Dimensional Walls Is New Decorating Trend

THREE-dimensional, rather than traditional, flat walls were one of the features of the recent "Decorating & Design, 1962" show in New York which was seen by thousands of visitors who will be adapting the ideas they saw to their own home. Many of the decorators who participated in the event utilized paint in novel ways either on actual three-dimensional surfaces or to give the effect of depth.

A stately Nineteenth Century dining room designed by Ellen Lehman McCluskey Associates, had marbled walls in various shades of blue from lapis lazuli to pale azure. The effect of marble was achieved with paint applied in lines of varying widths imitating the veining of actual marble. At regular intervals the effect of panels was created by outlining areas in deep blue.

Another decorator used heavy bodied textured paint in an unusual way. Instead of creating a random pattern on the still-wet texture paint with a stippling roller, sponge, whisk broom or other device, this decorator drew stylized fish, birds and other animals on the impressionable surface. The color can best be described as elephant gray and the lighting was dim, so for an extra touch, bits of glitter were placed at random over the surface while the paint was still wet. The glitter sparkled like a thousand stars of many colors.

This technique can be applied to the drawing of any design that strikes one's fancy. In a children's room, animals, clouds and toys can be outlined, for example. If desired, the outline of the animal can be filled in with a paint of another color after the texture paint has dried. Anatomical or other details can be painted with an artist's brush.

Still another example of a wall in depth was achieved by nailing three strips of one-half inch square wood to the wall so as to create a plaid-like pattern around its perimeter. The slats were painted with bright blue, red and yellow egg shell (dow sheen) enamel.

In creating a living room with a country atmosphere, another designer violated the first principle of enameling; she did not sand smooth the boards used to make a floor to ceiling book case wall. Instead, she applied gloss enamel to the rough utility grade boards, and the enamel dried to a textured film that clung to every imperfection in the surface. The effect was pleasing with the homespun fabrics used for draperies and the nubby upholstery and rustic furniture.

FASHION FINALE — A wedding gown, modeled by Martha Griffith brought the community wide fashion show to a triumphant climax yesterday afternoon when 13 local merchants cooperated to present high fashion. The full skirt with its bustled train unfasts to convert it into a lace ball dress.

High Fashions From Local Merchants Star In Show

Missionaries for the "Shop-at-home" gospel made a lot of converts at the Fun in the Sun Fashion Show held yesterday at the luncheon at the Penn-Stroud Hotel in conjunction with the annual Hotel Show. With the cooperation of 13 merchants from Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, complete ensembles were created at prices ranging from $1.99 to $3.50.

Sally Ferrebee as commentator set the style trend visibly, wearing a black dress with a red and white checked cape, lined in red, and enormous black hat; and vocally by pointing out the high style features of the fashions which ranged from beachwear to a wedding, from shoes to hats to furs, from the golf course to the Laurel Blossom Cotillion.

Innovations included a "Twist" ensemble, with inspiration straight from the Peppermint Lounge; a bathing suit and "beachbloomer" combination; a "member of the wedding" dress with a peal skirt, which could be removed to transform the dress into sheath dinner dress; another full-skirt which could double as a cape over the dress; and even a convertible wedding gown with a removable train.

With coordinated outfits high on the fashion scene with blouses teamed with separate skirts and slacks and shorts, another switch was the same outfit worn through four changes of accessories.

Gloves, bags, shoes, hats, gloves and furs were co-ordinated into the complete fashion picture presented by the cooperating merchants.

Mrs. Ferrebee predicted that this may be the last of the luncheon fashion shows since plans are now under way to present the next cooperative fashion show at the Penn-Stroud at night so more people can attend.

Garden Club Relives Its Salad Days

Following their salad bowl luncheon at the YMCA on Thursday, members of the Monroe County Garden Club were taken down memory lane by Mrs. Robert B. Irwin, a charter member of the club, who described the early activities of the organization.

Originating in 1927, as a Civic Club, the first president was Mrs. Robert Stadden, and the dues were 75 cents a year. In 1928, the club was affiliated with the Pennsylvania Federation and all 35 members agreed on the name: Monroe County Garden Club.

In the early years the club studied horticulture and conservation, dug in their gardens and made many plantings throughout the county. They also visited the gardens of Mr. Bedford, John Gish and Norman Dreher and LaBar's Nursery. As Mrs. Irwin pointed out the club still accepts the annual invitation to the Nursery, including 1962.

The first public flower show was held in 1928 in the old East Stroudsburg Methodist Church when three prizes totalling the grand sum of $10 were awarded, and a lavender basket filled with purple and lavender asters was won by Mrs. Norman Dreher.

Mrs. Irwin also recalled how Cullen Yates, N. A., helped the members during those early days with instructions in color combinations.

Mrs. William Peacock was the first delegate to be sent to the state Federation meeting.

An early triumph of the club was its part in having the Mountain Laurel, or Kalmia latifolia, named as the State Flower, and that part was recognized when the club was given the pen with which Gov. Gifford Pinchot signed the bill.

Mrs. Irwin urged the members to continue giving of themselves, and sharing their plants and gardens to make the world a better place for their having lived in it.

Mrs. Edgar Van Why presided at the business meeting when an invitation was extended by the Hazleton Garden Club for a luncheon on May 18 when the program will feature Japanese Flower Arranging by Mrs. Philip McKenna.

Mrs. A. Starr Phelps displayed two rare horticulture specimens: tussilago farfara, better known as Colts' Foot, which is the earliest blooming with flower; and shortia, also known as Oconee Bells.

Using colored egg shells as flowers and artificial foliage, Mrs. William Michelfelder exhibited an arrangement. Red and white carnations in an antique vase were exhibited by Mrs. Ernest Schwartz.

The club will plant the flower window boxes at Laurel Manor for Memorial Day.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Food AND fashions: that was yesterday's theme song. There was humor and unexpected twists, capital and otherwise — but the twist that always fascinates me is that the audience always comes decked out in such high fashions that they might well take to the runway just as they are.

Another year, I'd suggest that after the models have done their stuff, Sally have an impromptu fashion parade of the whole audience. Actually the people on Main St. were treated to just that when the luncheon let out. They were flowered, furred and ready to go.

But so were the women at the County Federation meeting later in the afternoon. Still steeped in fashions, I couldn't help noticing how smart they all looked. One of the amazing things, however, is how fashions, particularly those tremendous hats, which once would have set the whole room to buzzing are now accepted without surprise.

However, Robert Payne is due for a surprise if he reads the woman's page this morning. Lois wasn't going to confess that she'd been drafted as county president until he read it in the paper. With Lois at the helm, there's one thing the county federation can count on: they won't have a dull meeting.

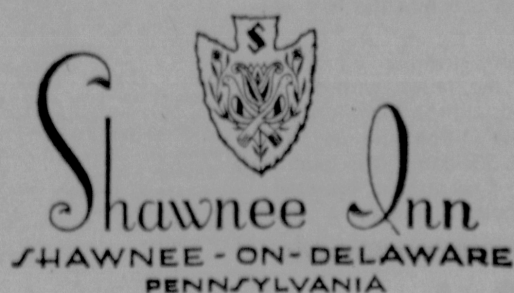

Actually, none of them are and one of the heartening things is the way the younger women are moving into active participation in community affairs — or maybe it's just because they seem younger to me.

Anyway the Junior Woman's Club did a good job of hostessing, with some clever ideas for prizes. That artificial flower arrangement contest also was a smart idea and saved a lot of money and trouble for the decorating committee, with the entries serving as centerpieces.

Of course, they could have just asked the guests to put their hats on the tables and it would have served the same purpose.

LIKE never before, the swing in golf is to the picturesque Pocono Mountains where there is a course for every golfer from the duffer to the scratch player.

There are more than thirty courses in the Poconos with eight of the layouts in true championship form capable of holding any top professional event. There are also area courses ranging in length from a 2,200 yard, nine-hole layout to the 7,200 yard (back tees) course.

A new miniature 18-hole golf course will open tomorrow along Route 611 to add to the Pocono's huge array. It is the new Continental Miniature Golf Course.

All owners report the greens in better shape than ever.

Excellent Conditions
Glen Brook Country Club, with pro Paul Patten back for his second year, reports greens in excellent condition. The course has been cleared of "grown-in" areas and renovating of "traps" has placed the layout in the best condition ever.

The championship course claims a great deal of Pocono play. It is the only par 73 course in the area and measures 6,308 yards. Its 16th hole, 150-yard par three, is one of the toughest in the area.

John Kupice is teaching pro. Mo-Nom-O-Nock Inn at Cresco and Cliff Park at Milford are both good nine-hole courses. There are traps on either course.

The Pocono public courses include Wiscasset and Indian Mountain, both owned by Vance Megargel. New this year in the Megargel circuit is a par 3 layout at Blakeslee Corners on Rt. 115.

The course, in the development period for the last three years offers a challenge to amateurs and pros alike with its natural obstacles. Wiscasset is located on Rt. 611 between Swiftwater and Mt. Pocono.

Other public courses are Mount

Pocono Golf, Blue Mountain Golf and Bush's Golf Course.

At Shawnee Country Club the magic combination of names of golf and Fred Waring are identifiable with one of the leading spots in the East. Located on the banks of the Delaware, the Shawnee Inn has been in existence since 1911. Under Waring's guiding hand, the recent years have been a consistent program of development until today it is known everywhere as "The Golf Capital Of The East."

Four tee positions are offered on every hole. This makes it possible to extend the play from 5,800 yards on the yellow course to 7,200 yards on the white. Par is 72. Jack Cummins is returning as director of golf activities after sports-

Manor is located 15 miles north of Stroudsburg.

Mountain Manor On Route 209 at Marshalls Creek, probably the most played course in the area, is headed by veteran Ray Lambert, senior P.G.A. member. The course has layout of 27 holes with nine of them a par three set-up.

Water Gap Country Club (Wolf Hollow) is home of the 1927 and '28 Eastern Opens. The Gap's 12th hole is only 120 yards long, but earned the name "Hagen's Folly" after the Haig took a 12 on it in the Eastern Open. Sam Kinder, an excellent player, is the Water Gap pro. WGCC is a private club but arrangements can be made to play the course.

Other Courses
The Inn at Buck Hill is also the birthplace of Pocono golf. The first round was played there in 1909 about seven years after its construction had begun. Ted Beadle is on his 17th year at The Hill and Harry Drennan, golf manager, is in his forty-second season.

Skytop, founded in 1928, is headed by Harold Calloway. It rarely allows outside play, however, reserving its course for some 3,000 members and resort guests. At Vacation Valley, free golf lessons are given to guests who stay a week and pay a week's $7 greens fees. The Vacation Valley course is 3,000 yards long and includes a 580-yard seventh hole.

Blue Mountain Golf Course, located 1/2 mile east of Saylor's Lake, is owned and operated by Bert and Grant Knowles. It has a challenging nine-hole regulation course with natural obstacles.

At Tannersville is The Randall's Woodmont Lodge and Golf Course. The nine hole layout is a fairly rugged challenging course.

Fernwood has a nine-hole course and is located on Route 209 East of East Stroudsburg.

Indian Mountain Golf Course is located at Kresgeville in the West-

Tamiment's Robert Trent Jones-designed course earns the title of the toughest challenge in the area. The course, located 12 miles from Stroudsburg on Route 29 East, cost over $750,000 to build. From three Tamiment-in-Poconos holes it is possible to see 20 miles in any direction.

Danny Kaye Play
Tamiment is the home of the Danny Kaye Pro-Am Tournament, which this year will be held in September. The 17th hole at the course, two years in the making, cost about $20,000 to construct.

Art Wall, Jr., the 1959 PGA "Golfers of the Year" registers out of Pocono Manor Inn Golf Course, a challenging course. It is some 1800 feet high in the Poconos.

Manor pro is Jack Cuttle who has held the job for the past thirty seven years. Wall represents the Manor on the pro circuit and holds the Manor course record of 63. The

Commentaries — on Sports Tony Cesare Sports Editor

READING PICKS NEW COACH—Sherwood W. Werner, of Reading, a former U. S. Naval Academy star grimmer in the late 1950s, has been named new football coach at Reading High School.

The hiring of Werner ends a lengthy speculation that Pen Argyl's Elwood Petchel would get the post. Petchel, who blazed The Green Knights to a 9-1 record and the Lehigh-Northampton League championship, had been interviewed for the job.

The Knights had been only a mediocre until Petchel took the helm the past season.

Petchel came to Pen Argyl from Springfield High School in Amsterdam, Ohio, where he compiled a 13-2 record in two years. He previously coached at Columbus, Ohio, recording a 22-14 mark and his teams at Bellwood-Antis near Altoona, won 20 straight games.

With Petchel's fine record, the Pen Argyl fans did not want to see him leave. The signing of Werner by the Reading school system should relieve their anxieties now.

Werner, who is also known as "Sherry," is a graduate of Reading High. He compiled a fine service record while in the Navy and recently retired after 20 years of duty. He is 42 years old.

Werner was hired even though he has had no previous experience as a high school coach. He did, however, lead the 150-lb. Navy teams to two straight unbeaten seasons.

The new coach will teach math, which the school system ordered he considered first. The coaching assignment was a secondary matter, it was believed.

The three-man committee that made the selection said "we picked the man because of the need for a certain type of teacher and not because of a coach." Since he can fulfill the duties as coach, Werner naturally falls in line for the job. The selecting group was composed of the school principal, superintendent of schools and the head of the athletic department.

The school had also interviewed Bob Perguini, a former Reading High star and accomplished coach at New Jersey coast school.

Werner replaces Andy Stopper who had a 3-5-1 record in the past season. In January, the school board fired Stopper, explaining that it felt it was time to make a change.

The change has come, and gone.

GRID GROUP . . . Formation of a state-wide schoolboy football coaches association appears certain.

A year-long study of the project is expected to reach a climax this weekend, when high school coaches gather at Penn State for a general assembly.

Bobby Rute, of Easton High and Mario Martorelli, of North Hills High, who spearheaded the movement, said a constitution was being drawn up with legal help and that the document would be ready for formal vote April 28.

SUMMARIES . . . ESSC grid team will open its '62 conference season on Sept. 15 when it plays host to Montclair . . . On Friday night, Sept. 28, it travels to West Chester for a game with the Rams . . . James Wertheimer, diamond coach at ESHS, was pleased with his team's opening win over Pleasant Valley, 5-3, but not entirely happy . . . His team hit five home runs—two more than all last season . . . But three of the homers at PV were ruled out as they came in the seventh inning just as the game was called on account of darkness.

Drop Two Veterans

Mets Acquire 3 New Players

NEW YORK (AP)—In his first step toward remaking the New York Mets, club president George Weiss Thursday acquired three new players, one by trade and two by purchase. At the same time, the Mets dropped two veterans.

The most important of the acquisitions is Sammy Taylor, a left-handed hitting catcher, who came from the Chicago Cubs in exchange for outfielder Bobby Gene Smith. The purchased players are catcher Harry Chitt from Cleveland and pitcher Dave Hillman from Cincinnati by way of Syracuse.

The dropped players are veteran relief pitcher Clem Labine and third string catcher Joe Ginsberg.

Taylor is the fellow who left the Cubs without permission earlier this week to join his family in Woodruff, S.C. Placed on suspension for this, he told the Cubs: "Trade me or I will quit baseball."

The Mets, who finally announced their deal today, purchased catcher Harry Chitt from Cleveland; also bought right-handed pitcher Dave Hillman from Syracuse of the International League.

To make room for the two new players, the Mets handed unconditional releases to pitcher Clem Labine and catcher Joe Ginsberg.

Chitt spent most of the 1961 season in the minors although he started the year with the Detroit Tigers. The 29-year-old receiver batted .294 with Denver of the American Association last season and .236 with Rochester of the International.

Hillman, 34, had a 3-2 record with the Boston Red Sox last year.

Braves Win 3rd Straight; Beat Phillies

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Rookie Tommy Aaron moved out of brother Henry's shadow Thursday carrying a big bat as the Milwaukee Braves found the power to go with their rediscovered pitching and won their third straight game from the Philadelphia Phils 10-4.

The 22-year-old Tommy, starting in place of Howie Bedell as Manager Birdie Tebbetts rotated his rookies, cut loose with a single, a triple and his first major league home run, batting in four runs and scoring three himself.

Bob Hendley posted his second victory in three decisions and ran his career record over Philadelphia to 3-0, allowing only five hits and two runs before he tired and was replaced by Hank Fischer in the eighth. Fischer gave up two consolation runs in the ninth.

The loser was rookie Jack Hamilton, who now is 1-2.

Weatherman To Decide If Sir Gaylord Is Ky. Entry

By KESLO STURGEON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Casey Hayes, who trains Sir Gaylord and Cicada, would like to get his hands on an advanced weather forecast.

It would help him decide whether the Meadow Stable bluebloods run as an entry in the Kentucky Derby May 5 in an effort to snag a 1-2 finish, a trick that has been turned on three times in Derby history—in 1921, 1926 and 1948.

Calumet Farms' great Citation and Coaltown were the last pair to take first and second in the Derby and Hayes feels his contenders could do the same thing.

"There are a lot of its involved right now, but it's possible the two will go as an entry—especially if the track is off the day before the Derby."

As he watched Cicada, the champion 2-year-old filly, wind up a morning workout at Churchill Downs Thursday, Hayes pointed out, "She has raced against the colts once—and almost came out on top."

Cicada, who was nipped by Riddan, a top Kentucky Derby threat, at the wire in the Florida Derby, is scheduled to start Saturday at Churchill Downs in the 15,000.

Tribe Overcomes Deficit To Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Willie Kirkland drove in the deciding runs with a seventh-inning single and Sam McDowell scored his first major league pitching victory Thursday as the first place Cleveland Indians came from behind to defeat the Los Angeles Angels 6-4.

McDowell, 19, a left-hander, relieved starter Gary Bell in the third inning and retired 12 men in order before walking Leon Wagner and Steve Bilko in the seventh. Barry Latman then replaced McDowell and set the Angels down on two hits the rest of the way.

The Indians, trailing 4-3 after six, loaded the bases with none out in the seventh on three walks, two by Ryno Duren and one by Joe Nuxhall. Kirkland, who hadn't had a hit in nine at-bats, followed with his decisive single. A single by Woody Held brought in an other run.

Cleveland scored its first three runs off Eli Grba in the third. Ty Cline and Gerry Luplow contributed doubles to the rally and John Rompage and Held had singles.

Collins and Shave Share Texas Open Lead With 66

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—

Young Bob Shave Jr. and veteran Bill Collins finished early and late with five-under-par 66s Thursday to share the first round lead in the $30,000 Texas Open.

They took the lead from Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and favorite, and three others, who had wound up with 67s.

Leighton Beats PV In 18-14 Contest

PLEASANT Valley dropped a 12-run lead and the ballgame yesterday as they lost to Leighton 18-14 on the loser's field. It was PV's fourth loss in a row.

The Bears of PV had taken a 12-run lead in the first four frames with three in the first, three in the second and eight more in the fourth.

Single tallies in the first and fourth and an explosion 12-run outburst in the fifth knotted the count at 14-14. However, Leighton scored three more in the sixth and one in the seventh to take the win.

In addition to the 32 runs, 30 hits were sprayed across the field.

West End Nine Is Planning To Repeat As PML Champs

WEST END, 1961 champions of the Pocono Mountain League, plans to make it two in a row this year.

Eight of the team's members who captured the title last year are back on the roster. But it won't take the West Enders long to determine their power. The WE boys travel to Bowmanstown on Sunday as the league opens its '62 campaign.

Bowmanstown is a new entry to the loop and the contest should provide plenty of answers that are now question marks.

For manager Web Shafer, and assistant Gib Bachman there shouldn't be any problems. They are looking for another successful season.

Shafer has Wayne Wise, a veteran catcher back, and he will share the duties at home plate with Denton Lakatos.

Brian Hill, '61 pitching mainstay, and Billy Metzger will handle many of the mound duties. Newcomers to the staff are Dean Lakatos and Robert Ellinger.

At first base position will be Dick Schaller and at second Johnny Anwalt. Anwalt formerly played with Kunkletown. The team is now entering in the Blue Mountain League.

Back at short is Johnny Smith and at the third base post is Jack Newell. Newell batted at a .315 clip last season.

Outfielders will be Harry Possinger with .364 average; Red Kresge, formerly with Kunkletown and a 400 batsman; Larry Hill, Dean Lakatos and Bitz Fenner are also ready for outfield duty.

Anne Shafer is the team's scorekeeper.

Dodgers Rap Chicubs 12-5 On 6 Errors

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers uncorked four homers, two of them in succession by Willie Davis, to blast the shaky Chicago Cubs 12-5 Thursday. The Cubs made six errors.

Davis, who had singled in the fourth inning, followed with solo homers in the sixth and seventh to run his total to five for the campaign.

Frank Howard's homer—his second of the season—was good for two runs in a three-run fifth. His single in the fourth inning was one of five hits in that frame and accounted for one of the four runs scored.

Padding out the Dodgers' 14-hit siege against four Cub hurlers was Daryl Spencer's first homer in a four-run seventh, which included a run-scoring triple by Tom Davis. Tom also singled and doubled.

Wally Moon contributed three singles to the assault to collect seven hits in the series, which the Dodgers took two games to one.

The loss was pinned on starter Dick Ellsworth, who lasted into the fifth, and was his first after two victories. Credited with his first triumph was Ron Perranoski, last of three Dodger hurlers.

Suspended Pitt Players Return

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Five University of Pittsburgh football players who were suspended, from school last January for disciplinary reasons have returned to classes, Pitt officials said Thursday.

A spokesman for the university said the five returned for the opening of the third trimester at the school and will become eligible for athletics immediately.

The five are quarterbacks Paul Marth and Glenn Lehner, tackle Bob Ostrosky, halfback Ray Conway, and guard Jon Botula.

Detroit Wins In Home Run Parade 11-7

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, with Vic Wertz and Bubba Morton supplying timely pinch hits, crashed through for seven runs in the seventh inning Thursday and beat the Kansas City Athletics 11-7 in a home run marathon.

Wertz' single tied the score 7-7 after the Tigers entered the inning behind 7-4 and appeared stopped by Dave Wicksham's relief pitching.

Morton followed by slicing a triple that broke the tie and chased in two runs. Dick Brown's double and Jake Wood's second single of the inning added the last two Tiger runs.

The Tigers started their comeback on Al Kalline's two-run homer, last of five in the contest. They sent 1 batter up in the big inning and seven hit safely.

The victory went to Hank Aguirre, last of three Detroit hurlers. He held the A's to one hit over the last four innings. Bob Grim, third of four Kansas City pitchers, lost.

Manny Jimenez cracked two homers for Kansas City and Bobby Del Greco one. Sam Jones, who relieved Tiger ace Frank Lary in the second, hit the first homer of his long major league career in the second.

'Toughest Team' Was Ernie Davis

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When somebody asked Pitt tackle Gary Kallenbach which team in his opinion was the toughest the football team played, he replied, "Ernie Davis."

Kallenbach referred to Davis' performance against the Panthers in a Syracuse victory. The Heisman Award winner ran for 119 yards and scored two touchdowns.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Ridan Gains Easy Win

LEXINGTON, Ky., (AP) — Favored Ridan sped to victory Thursday in the $33,300 Blue Grass Stakes and headed toward a challenge by Sir Gaylord in the Kentucky Derby.

The fleet Nantallah colt, owned by Mrs. Moody Jolley, was paced expertly by jockey Manuel Ycaza through the 1 1/4 miles at Keeneland race course to win going away, four lengths ahead of Decidedly.

Roman Line was third in the nine-horse field of class 3-year-old Derby eligibles.

Ridan ran the distance in 1 minute 47 3/5, one-fifth second off the track record set by Round Table in 1957. He continued running and was timed for the Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:01.

Ridan showed stamina as well as known speed as he lay back for the first half of the race after being first out of the gate. Then started his coming up fast on the outside in the bend.

Ridan, the betting favorite, paid $3.80, $3.00, and $2.80. Decidedly returned $4.40 and $3.20 while Roman Line, paid $3.40.

Mrs. Jolley picked up a gold julep cup from Duvall Headley, president of Keeneland, and Ridan got the winner's $21,580 to boost his total earnings to $446,534.

Ridan, who lost out to Crimson Satan for 2-year-old honors last year despite being undefeated, has been beaten twice by Sir Gaylord in Florida racing this year. He was second in the Bahamas

Stakes and third, set back to fourth for bumping, in the Everglades.

Sir Gaylord was not in the Blue Grass. He'll prep for the May 5 Derby in the 7-furlong Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs in Louisville Saturday.

In running the Derby distance in 2:01, Ridan was two-fifths of a second faster than the Derby record, set in 1941 by Whirlaway.

He carried Derby weight of 126 pounds. Black Beard finished fourth and Crimson Satan, who challenged briefly in the stretch but faded, was fifth.

Detroit's Frank Lary completed 22 of his 36 starts, best American League figure for 1961.

Top Trackmen Threaten Drake Relays Records

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer
DES MOINES, Iowa, (AP) — The nation's track and field spotlight centers on the Drake Relays Friday and Saturday with a rash of records likely in the 53rd classic.

A forecast of almost ideal weather, with temperatures in the 80s, should help the finest field in Drake history lower marks in nearly a dozen events.

Texas Southern's amazing runners, pole vaulter John Uelses and a star-studded field in the 100-yard dash are features of the meet.

The classy array of athletes also includes six stars shooting for a sweep of Texas, Kansas and Drake titles, and five defending champions, including Houston miler Barrie Almond who is bidding for his third consecutive Drake crown.

Texas Southern's little squad, the outstanding team at the Texas and Kansas carnivals, is favored in five college division relays.

Its only appearance Friday will be in the distance medley relay.

Uelses, the ex-Marine who is the only person to pole vault 16 feet, hopes to snap out of a slump in a special AAU vault in which he will be challenged Friday by George Davies of Arizona State and J. D. Martin, formerly of Oklahoma.

forest fires

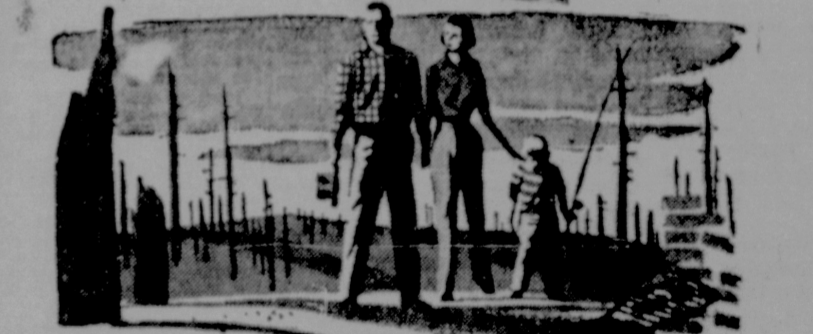

Four million acres of timber destroyed every year! Forest fires annually burn enough timber to form a belt 1 1/2 miles wide stretching from Anchorage, Alaska, to Richmond, Virginia.

America's best grazing land is shrinking! Fires destroy thousands of acres of rich high-country pastures in our national forests yearly. The losers: our finest livestock and our wildlife!

Multi-million dollar floods follow fires! Soil burned bare by forest fires can't hold rainwater. The rainwater runs off uncontrollably, builds from streams to torrents to devastating floods. People drown, farms and towns suffer ruinous damage.

Tourist and recreation areas threatened! Every year, fire destroys one-twentieth of our forests—turning thousands of hunting, fishing and recreation areas into blackened wasteland.

And most of this need never happen because nine out of ten forest fires are man-caused!

Follow Smokey Bear's rules:

1. Break matches
2. Crush smokes
3. Be sure all fires are out

Dear Abby

Now Be Close-Mouthed!

Dear Abby: My sister-in-law says I'm two-faced because I am nice to my mother-in-law's face but actually I can't stand some of her ways. She is a very gossipy woman. I love my husband and don't want to get on the outs with his mother by telling her to her face what I think of her. Am I being two-faced?

THE QUIET TYPE

Dear Abby: Let's say you are being civilized, diplomatic and very, very tactful. It's wise not to tell your mother-in-law what you think of her. Just be sure you don't tell anyone else.

Dear Abby: You helped me out by telling me about this Home for Unwed Mothers. I am here now and can't thank you enough for sending me here. My problem now is, should I keep my baby or should I give it up for adoption? I am terribly confused. At first, I made up my mind to keep my baby. Then I wrote to a priest whom I have known a long time and he strongly urged me to give my baby up for the baby's sake. I am undecided again. I am 17. The baby's father is married.

UNDECIDED

Dear Undecided: The decision should be YOURS and YOURS alone. Ask yourself two questions: (1) What will be best for my baby? (2) What will be best for me? God bless you. I know you will make the right decision.

Dear Abby: I was visiting my friend yesterday and her dog started to pull on my baby's blanket. I said to her, "Look what your dog is doing!" She replied, "Please do not refer to him as a DOG—his name is Lancelot!" I was so burned up I couldn't think if an answer.

What should I have said?

BOSTONIAN

Dear Bostonian: You should have said, "Tall LANCELET to cut it out or his name will be MUD!"

Dear Abby: Your advice to the lad who complained because his mother and grandparents always spoke Italian in front of him, took me back about 50 years when I was a small boy. Only mine were forever talking Swedish. When I asked my mother to teach me Swedish, she replied, "You already know too much in English. The reason we speak Swedish is so you won't understand what it is we are saying."

NEVER LEARNED

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, April 27, 1962

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Good chance to show initiative. Solid groundwork can lead, in fact, for you to start the ball rolling, counteracting delaying tendencies with decisive, enthusiastic moves.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Generous aspects and added stimulus from others within your vicinity will do better with adequate plans, logical determination. The newness, the touch, the hearty smile — top salesmen.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Plan Mercury not so well aspected, but others bespeak an easier ride along the good roads present. New offerings, openings for the alert, be versatile, but only for right paths.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Going to have competition. Many are in good form with revitalized energy. Meet them at their incentive level. Just to stay in the swim will be well worth it.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Tend not to be susceptible suggestions. Patience a requisite with tedious tasks, difficult dispositions. Real story today, perseverance plus common sense. One who gives up easily is easiest to defeat.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Rather mild rays. Plan smartly. It is a benefic period ahead that will reward you. Get the jump on delays. Be outgoing, cooperative, wisely selective, and a prize will be large.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Not overly helpful for personal desires today. Many are friendly overtones for usual needs. A little extra vigor.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Influences dominate. Builders, manual labor in general, clerical, secretarial work, transportation can return new benefits for a little extra vigor.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Repeat of auspicious aspects. Don't overdo eagerness or fervor; restraint successfully complements ardor. And laudable objectives alone deserve your time. Be sensibly economical.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Not wholly agreeable for attaining all desired. Not always good for us to achieve all we wish. When returns are harder to come by we appreciate them more. Steady does it.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Guard confidentiality. Be quick to act calculating when real opportunity is in view. Caution signing contracts, documents. Don't attempt too much. Evenness paramount.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Neptune in quiet mood. Strength, hope, optimism. Look at history — floods, fire, wars have downed strong men's minds. They lived and greater days. New achievement sponsored.

YOU BORN TODAY are under Taurus. The Sustainer. You like to accomplish in a big way, and can make a marked imprint on fellow men along with you. You are as long as others don't "push" you. Prone to take things as they come up, but not easily upset if obstacles or difficulties appear, too. May get started late on some things but once started out you should be on wheel. You turn it fast to (maybe remarkable) success. Do not change plans too readily nor be swayed from same line of reasoning by sympathies or aversions. Strong family ties, devotion. In this sign, but you are sometimes shy displaying affections. Birthdate of Samuel J. Morse, inventor; S. Grant, 18th Pres.; Herbert Spencer, philosopher.

Stroud Union High's Alma Mater Recalls Memories

By Sandy Possinger
"WHEN the first, faint flush of dawn is seen, calmly still, calmly still," are the familiar words which start the Stroud Union School alma mater.

In May 1916, Mary Frances Melcher, a senior at Stroudsburg High School which stood where the present Ramsey building is, Miss Elizabeth Zimmerman and William Bender, along with several other faculty members, felt the need for an alma mater. A contest was organized. Students were asked to submit poems which could be set to the music of familiar songs.

Because Mary Frances Melcher had written other school songs, she was asked to submit an entry. She entered words set to the music of "Believe Me If All Those Endearing, Young Charms."

However, the tune was thought to be too popular and could never be dissociated with the original words. As a result, Mr. Bender asked her to write words to the music of the "Minuet in G."

Busy with a graduation speech to prepare, Miss Melcher wrote what is now the second verse of the alma mater. Then, asked to write another, she wrote what is now the first verse.

In view of the fact that the high school is no longer "on the hill," Miss Melcher feels a new verse should be written. Regardless of the present inaccuracy of words, Miss Melcher has written an alma mater which has remained with Stroudsburg for 46 years. It is as follows:

When the first faint flush of dawn is seen,
Calmly still, calmly still,
Bathed in gleaming gold and crimson sheen
Is our high school on the hill.
Home of all our youthful joys
Thou art,
Happy days, happy days,
And the throb of each devoted heart
Is re-echoed in this song of praise,
Though the years quickly fly,
All our loyal friends give place
To new,
To our Alma Mater we'll be true,
Stroudsburg High, Stroudsburg High.

Helpful Hints for the Home Owner

PUTTY SOFTENER

When dried putty on a window sash that needs new glass becomes difficult to remove by scraping, a hot soldering iron or gun held against the putty will soften it quickly.

NAIL PULLING TIP

To avoid denting or scratching the surface when nails are pulled from lumber that is to be re-used, slip a small wooden block under the hammerhead.

BRIGHTEN FAUCETS

Keep kitchen and bathroom faucets bright by sponging them with full-strength pine cleaner, then wiping dry.

STRING DISPENSER

An ordinary metal household funnel can serve as a string dispenser. Nailing it vertically to the wall, drop the ball of string in the top and feed the end of the string out through the bottom. Then pull from the bottom to feed out as much string as needed.

WINDOWS RATTLING?

Silence them by driving two or three large rubber-headed tacks against the bottom edges of the lower sash. When the window is closed and locked these will take up the slack, and prevent vibration.

FINDING TINY PARTS

To find a needed small nut, bolt or screw in a box or drawer of odds and ends, simply spread contents on a cardboard or newspaper. When you have what you need, shape paper into a "trough," and pour the rest back into the drawer.

HANDY STORAGE

Circular saw blades of various sizes can be safely and conveniently stored in old phonograph record albums, each blade slipped into a pocket.

EASY DOES IT

Screw a metal drawer handle on the side of your stepladder at the point where ladder balances when lifted. This will make room-to-room transportation easier.

CLEANER HEARTH

Natural brick fireplace hearths will absorb less dirt and stains if scrubbed clean, and then coated with two coats of a clear, penetrating floor sealer.

SAWING SMALL CUTS

A piece of scrap lumber, clamped to the board from which you must saw a very small amount will prevent the saw slipping off.

SMOOTH SPLICE

To splice two pieces of lumber, cut one off at a long, tapered angle, use it as a template to mark off the second piece at the same angle. Join with screws through edge, reinforce with glue.

FINGER SAVER

The bent end of a pipe cleaner, wrapped around the shank of a tiny brad to be inserted into a corner or space too small for the finger to hold, will assure accuracy, protect fingers.

TIME SAVER

Remember to turn back a fraction of an inch on your roll of plastic, cellophane or masking tape before pressing cut end back against the roll. Or, slip a paper clip over the cut end.

OILSTONE CARE

In order to put a sharp edge on cutting tools, new oilstone should be soaked in lightweight machine oil before using. Additional oil should be added each time the stone is used.

TAKE OUT WARP

Hold a heat lamp close to a warped board or cabinet door until it straightens. Immediately apply sealer to edges and sides to prevent entry of moisture.

SHOWER HEIGHT

A shower bath installation at 72 inches above the floor has been proven to be the most convenient height for most people.

TEST OIL STAINS

Before application of oil stain to furniture test the stain on a scrap piece of the same wood. If the stain soaks in too much it can be kept lighter by wiping off more quickly or by thinning with turpentine. If it comes out blotchy, apply a coat of sealer first.

BROKEN BULBS

To remove stub of a light bulb, which has broken off while in the socket, press a cake of soap over the broken ends. This will give a safe grip for turning the light bulb out. A large cork can also be used in the same manner.

HAND PROTECTOR

Messy jobs can be made less so by using small plastic vegetable bags as emergency work gloves. They are water and grease-proof and do not interfere with the sense of touch.

INLAID EFFECT

To simulate an inlaid design on natural wood to be stained, outline desired pattern with sharp knife. Coat inside of lines with thin shellac, allow to dry. Stain entire piece as usual, and when stain is wiped off, the shellacked design remains light.

MASONRY DRILL GUIDE

Here's how to prevent your carbide-tipped masonry drills from "creeping." Through a scrap block of wood, drill a hole the size of the masonry bit and place it over the spot to be drilled. The hole in the scrap block will act as a guide for the masonry bit and keep it from creeping.

INSULATING GLASS

Thermopane insulating glass is 53 per cent more effective than single plate glass in room insulation.

SAFETY MEASURE

Place strips of reflector tape across the edges of porch, attic and cellar steps, and you may prevent serious falls.

NEAT TRICK

Suspend small objects to be painted by a string from an overhead support. This provides out-of-the-way drying space while allowing rotating while painting all sides.

SAWING "SANDWICH"

Clamp a thin sheet of plastic to be sawed between two pieces of scrap plywood to prevent chattering, chipping or tearing.

KEEP ANTS OUT

Using a residual spray of roach and ant killer every month around cracks and crevices, near doorsteps will discourage ant invasion.

WRIST SAVER

A rubber band, crisscrossed as it's wrapped around the cap of a stubborn screw-top bottle or can provides enough tension and grip to make removal easy.

PENCIL LUBRICANT

The graphite in a lead pencil, rubbed on squeaking parts, will allow freer action, eliminates noises.

SCREEN CLEANING

Pieces of carpet, nailed to blocks of wood, are handy for dusting off wire screens. They may also be used to apply paint or varnish when the screens are clean.

TAPE SAVES EDGE

Retract the blade of a plane when not in use, or cover the protruding edge with friction tape to keep the blade from nicking.

FINGER-TIP

Scratch fingernails across a bar of soap before doing dirty jobs. It keeps out dirt, is easy to remove.

LOOSEN TIGHT DOORS

Doors that bind on the hinge side or stick at one corner can usually be remedied by loosening the hinge and sliding a piece of cardboard behind the plate before tightening it again.

Time Saving and Practical Ideas For Making Odd Jobs Around The Home Easier New Siding Gives Home "Face Lift"

Improving an old home with new siding is an investment that can pay big dividends in appearance and protection. Proper planning and the selection of materials plus attention to detail will assure satisfaction with the completed job.

Here are some suggestions pertinent to this important home improvement job that can help home owners considering re-siding this Spring:

Work competent and experienced workmen. It will pay to deal with an established firm in your city.

Select a siding with one of the modern finishes for lasting low maintenance. For example, manufacturers of that old favorite, asbestos-cement siding, report that new plastic and baked-on enamel finishes produce a sidewall material that will last for years with virtually no maintenance cost to the homeowner.

Choose your colors carefully to harmonize with your roof and environment. Most modern siding is now available in a host of colors. A recent survey, for example, showed that asbestos-cement siding comes in more than a hundred shades and hues and that new manufacturing methods insure almost permanent colors without fading for this sidewall material.

Consider having the siding applied in a manner that will accentuate the horizontal shadow line. Ask your applicator about it.

If new gutters and downspouts are to be installed, have them in place before the new siding is put on. This will prevent damage by storm water.

Ask your contractor to explain the several corner treatments possible and choose the one you think is best suited to your house.

CLOSE-QUARTER TIP

When a regular saw frame will not fit into a work area requiring a hacksaw cut, split a heavy dowel in half lengthwise. Insert blade and wrap friction and sandwashed blade with dowel tape, to provide a workable temporary handle.

PREVENT SPLITTING

To keep the far edge of a board from splitting off while you're planing across the end grain, clamp board in a vise with a piece of scrap tight against it. Any splitting will occur on the scrap.

USE FOR CLAY

Two lumps of modeling clay make a wonderful holder when soldering or gluing two small awkwardly shaped pieces. Just push each part into its lump of clay, then line up in the desired position.

SCREW LOOSE?

A small wad of steel wool, pressed into an enlarged hole, will take up the slack and enable the screw to hold firmly.

SAFETY DRILLING

Grasp a small piece to be drilled on a drill press with a large clamp. Use a second clamp to hold the entire assembly in place on drill press table.

OUTDOOR FURNITURE PAINT

Paint outdoor furniture (wood and metal) with an exterior enamel. Soft indoor paints chalk off onto clothing.

Painting Can "Re-Shape" A Room To Your Liking

You can reshape a room as you repaint it. Ceiling too low? Raise it. Room too narrow? Widen it. Or too square? Lengthen it. You can do it with paint—the right color paint.

A small room will look larger when painted a light color, particularly a light, cool color, such as pale blue, lilac, mauve, or blue gray. These colors retreat, making the walls seem farther apart, thus making the room itself appear more spacious.

To increase the size illusion, always paint the woodwork and trim the same color as the walls.

On the opposite side of the coin, deep hues are most flattering to large rooms. Even a sparsely furnished, barn-like room will look friendly and inviting when its walls are painted a deep, warm hue, such as burnished gold, copper or burgundy red. Woodwork can be painted white or a contrasting color in a specious room, and should be, as it's exceptionally decorative.

What about a long, narrow room—or hall—that resembles a bowling alley? You can make it seem much wider and square in shape if you paint the two side walls a light color and the narrow ends a deeper hue. This effect can be achieved by using a tint and shade of the same color, or by combining light and dark contrasting hues. For instance, you could use shell pink and rose or shell pink and turquoise.

Duo-tone Effects

Even a room can be a real "square". You can create more interest in a box-like room by making one wall the focal point. Select the wall behind the room's most important furnishing. Paint this one wall a contrasting color, or a brighter or deeper shade of the other walls. You might paint one wall bright gold and the remaining walls gray or pale yellow or a deep golden tone.

To make a ceiling look higher, paint it white or a very pale color which is much lighter than the walls. If you wish to make a high ceiling seem lower, use the reverse technique: paint the ceiling a deeper color than the walls.

Attractive features in a room should be accentuated. For example, to spotlight a handsome fireplace, paint it a color that contrasts with the surrounding walls. Or to call attention to a handsome painting, paint the frame a color that blends with the painting, but contrasts with the background wall.

When you wish to divert attention from unattractive features such as pipes and radiators, paint them the same color as their surrounding areas. They will fade into the background.

Paint Selection

If you are going to do your own painting here's a quick guide to the selection of the proper paints to use on the various surfaces.

New Plaster Walls—two coats of latex paint (also called water-thinned, plastic, rubber based) or one coat of primer sealer followed by alkyl flat enamel.

Previously Painted Plaster Walls—one coat of either latex or alkyl flat. If new paint is yellow or pink, it's advisable to use a coat of pigmented primer sealer first.

Wallboard—seal with one coat of primer sealer, then follow with latex or alkyl.

Hardboard—first seal with latex, enamel undercoater, oil or alkyl based primer. Follow with topcoat of choice.

Plyboard—seal with penetrating resin sealer, clear if top coat is to be varnished. If top coat is wall paint or enamel, use pigmented resin sealer.

New Woodwork—prime with enamel undercoater. Follow with semi-gloss or gloss enamel.

Previously Painted Woodwork—gloss or semi-gloss enamel. If color is being changed from dark to light, use enamel undercoat first.

TIGHT SEAL

Keep paint can rims so that lids will fit tight. This way paint can be stored for a longer period of time without hardening. To keep rims clean punch several holes in the bottom of the groove so that accumulated paint can drip down.

PAINT PROTECTION

Flies, gnats and other small insects are attracted to wet outside house paint. They stick to the surface, marring its appearance. Adding two tablespoons of oil of citronella to each gallon of paint during mixing will repel them and protect the work.

FAUCETS GLEAM

Corroded and pitted faucets gleam again when vigorously scrubbed with a damp cloth that has been saturated with automobile rubbing compound.

RUBBER HAMMER HEAD

Slip a rubber crutch tip over the head of a hammer to avoid damage to furniture or finished surfaces which require light pounding.

HOME COOLER

Painting the roof of your house white or a light color will keep the second floor temperature as much as ten degrees cooler on hot days. Special aluminum-asphalt roof paints are available for asphalt shingle roofs, or water-thinned latex paints are suitable.

QUIETER PLUMBING

If water pipes chatter or hammer every time water is turned off or on, check to be sure the mounting straps are tight. Additional supporting straps hammered firmly in place should stop noise.

RENEW FIGURES

Rub dark colored wax crayons over the intonations on control dials (on TV sets and kitchen ovens) and then wipe off with a clean rag. The color will remain in the grooved numerals making them clearly legible again.

PRE-COAT GLASS

Before painting glass, glazed tile or other slick surfaces, apply an undercoat of pigmented white shellac. This primer and sealer dries in minutes to a flat white finish to which the next coat will adhere perfectly.

SAFE HOLDER

An old coffee can will hold a hot soldering iron safely and keep it at hand. V-shaped notches should be cut in the top rim on opposite sides to prevent iron from rolling off.

FILE CLEANER

Trim the bristles of an old stiff bristle toothbrush until they're only about one-fourth inch long. This makes a handy tool for cleaning clogged files when a metal file card isn't handy.

HARDBOARD PLANING

Make sure the plane blade is very sharp and set for a very shallow depth when planing hardboard edges; you'll have no ragged edges.

USEFUL SCRAP

Tapered wooden shingles make handy shims, table leg extenders, can be wedged into large cracks to be filled with caulk, etc.

SQUIRTING GLUE

A baby syringe comes in handy for squirting liquid glue into tight-fitting joints.

INSULATION TIP

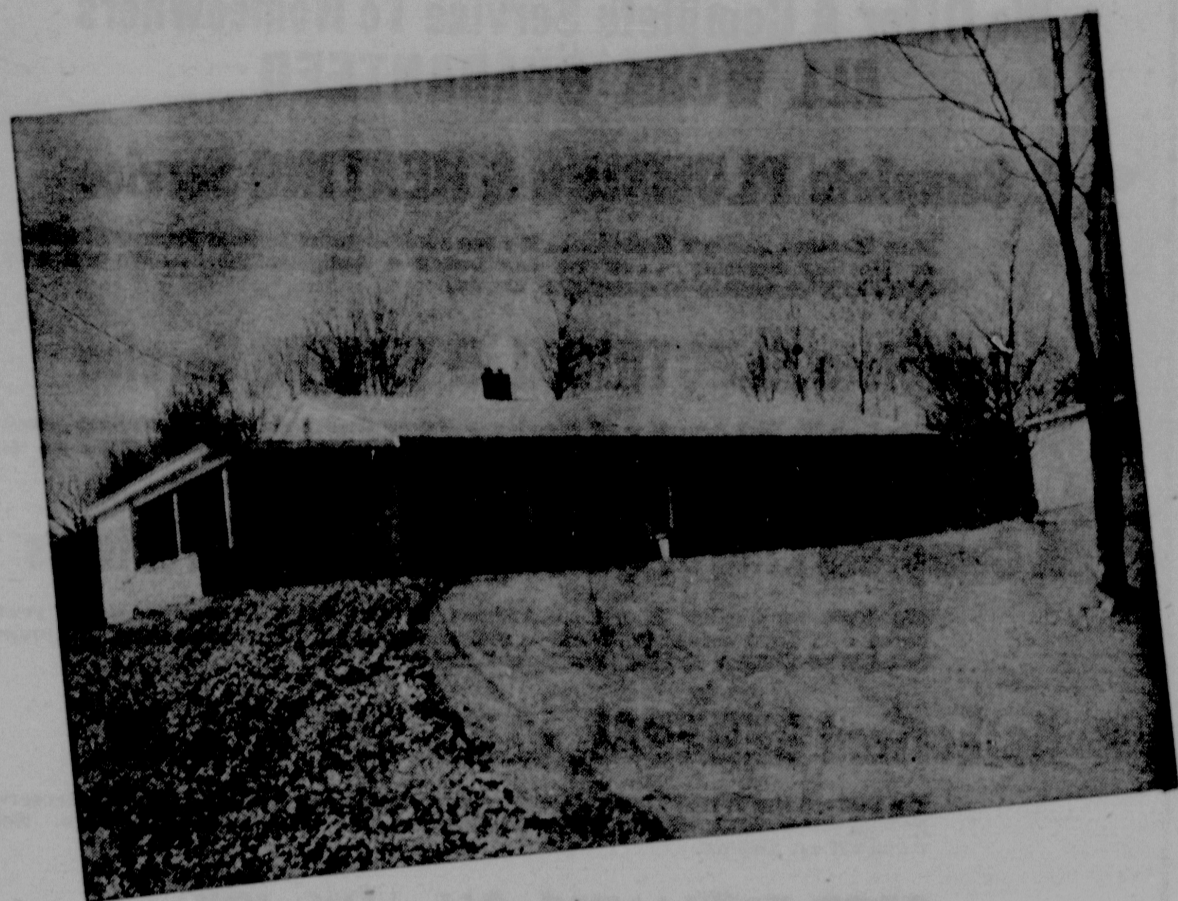

Well sharpened hedge shears make a perfect tool for cutting small pieces of insulation batts, cutting neatly in a single pass.

NAIL REMOVER

A rubber door wedge, if placed under the hammer head when removing long nails will provide extra leverage.
